5 How we collect this information

We collect learner information via:

- Admission forms completed by parents/carers when a learner joins the school;
- Data collection forms;
- CCTV cameras;
- Information provided from our day-to-day interactions with learners;
- Other information provided by:
 - Parents/carers and other family members;
 - Previous and/or current school or provision;
 - The local authority;
 - The NHS;
 - External agencies eg police, social care;
 - The Department for Education;
 - By secure file transfer - Common Transfer File (CTF) from previous school

We sometimes audio/ video record sessions/lessons/assessments for learner or staff development and assessment. This will generate personal data including learner images, names, contributions, and will be protected, processed, and retained in the same way as all personal data, in line with our Data Protection Policies.

While the majority of information we collect about learners is mandatory, there is some information that can be provided voluntarily. When we ask for information, we will always make it clear to you whether you are required to provide the information and your rights in relation to this including explaining the possible consequences of not complying.

6 Storing your data

Some of the personal data that we collect and use/process is stored in the Trust's Microsoft 365 account. This is a cloud-based platform with personal data being held on Microsoft servers based within the EU. Other data, depending on why we use it will be kept on other systems (see Section 8) or in paper files which are held in secure storage. We also use email to enable authorised users to transfer information to one another. These emails are always encrypted.

Most of the personal data that we collect and use is added to your Educational Record. We maintain this record while you attend our school. When/if you leave then your record will be treated as follows:

- If you move to another school, we will transfer a copy of your records to your new school e.g. moving from primary to secondary school or if you move house, it is transferred to the local authority where you have moved to;

We only keep the information for the length of time we need it for, as shown in our data retention schedule. For example, if you leave at the end of your compulsory education (secondary learners who leave at the end of Y11) we retain a full copy of your record until your 25th birthday.

Some personal data is kept for different lengths of time. For example:

- Detailed information about your daily attendance is kept for three years;
- Information about free school meals is kept for the current year and 6 years afterwards
- If your school record contains information about SEND requirements, then your file will be retained until your 35th birthday;
- Records of your admission to the school are kept permanently. We do this as learners often ask us to confirm the dates they attended an school.

We dispose of all personal information securely when we no longer need it.

If you'd like to know how long we keep a specific piece of personal data, please contact the Data Protection Lead whose details can be found at the end of this Privacy Notice.

7 Requesting access to your personal data and other rights

Right of Access - you have the right to access/view the personal data that we hold about you, to receive a copy of the data and to be given more information about the data including any transfer to countries who do not fall under the requirements of the GDPR. Some information we hold cannot be accessed in this way. If you ask for information that is not available, there may be other ways of accessing it and we can help you.

To have access to your personal data we will need to collect details of what you want and in the first instance you can contact the Data Protection Lead whose details can be found at the end of this Privacy Notice.

You also have the right to:

- be informed about the collection and use of their personal data
- correction - have inaccurate personal data changed, or completed if it is incomplete
- be forgotten - have your data erased, often known as the 'right to be forgotten'; however this does not apply where, amongst other things, processing is necessary to comply with a legal obligation
- restriction - limit the way we are using their information, although, as above this is a limited right
- objection - object to the way we are using their information; though other than for marketing purposes, this is also limited as above.

Other Rights you have

Learners and their families also have rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling, though these are not currently relevant as we do not carry out automated decision making or profiling.

Right to withdraw consent - where we rely on your consent to collect and use personal data, you have the right to withdraw that consent. This applies if you change your mind, or you are unhappy with our use of your personal data. Withdrawing your consent will need to be recorded in writing, please contact the Data Protection Lead at school. Once we receive this we will stop using your data.

Right to complain - you have the right to complain about the way we use their personal information to the ICO, or to seek compensation through the courts

7.1 Parents'/Carer's rights to access learner's personal data

In some cases, parents/carers can make the request on the learner's behalf, although this will be subject to the learner's consent if they are deemed to be competent to understand the request and any implications.

We usually say that children aged 12 and over are competent to understand, unless we have evidence to the contrary. This means that:

7.1.1 For learners under 12 years of age, we will usually ask your parents/carers to confirm that you can access the personal data. We will also provide your personal data to your parents/carers if they request it.

7.1.2 For learners aged 12 years and over, we will usually consider that you can make decisions about your personal data. This means that in most cases you can request access to your personal data and we will not ask your parents for their permission. It also means that we will not normally release your personal data to your parents/carers without your permission.

There may be occasions where we need to provide personal data to your parents/carers without your consent. These are likely to occur if there is a concern about your safety and welfare. We may also release personal data if your behaviour creates concern for the safety or progress of others.

We will still need to ask permission from your parents/carers for you to take part in some school and extra-curricular activities. The requirement for this permission overrides the protection of your personal data.

We are legally required to provide parents/carers with an annual report of their child's progress at school. We will offer the opportunity for parents/carers to come into school to discuss this report with your teachers and other members of staff. At Three Towers, we provide a formal written report each term as well as given parents/carers the opportunity to attend termly Learning Review Days.

8 Sharing your personal data

At times we will share your personal data with other organisations and people. We will only do this when we are legally required to do so, when our policies allow us to do so or when you have given your consent.

Personal information may be transferred outside the UK and the European Economic Area ('EEA'), including to the United States. Where information is transferred outside the UK or EEA to a country that is not designated as "adequate" in relation to data protection law, the information is adequately protected by the use of International Data Transfer Agreements and security measures, and other appropriate safeguards. For more information on international transfers please contact us to speak to our Data Protection Officer

8.2 Freedom of Information Act and environmental Information Regulations 2004

As a public body, both TTAPA and our Trust are subject to requests made under the above legislation. However, we will never disclose personal data in our responses to these requests where to do so would contravene the principles of data protection.

9 Why we regularly share learner information

We do not share information about our learners or families with anyone without consent unless the law and our policies allow us to do so.

9.1 Youth support services and Careers Advisors

Once our learners reach the age of 13, we are legally required to pass on certain information about them to the Local Authority in which the school is located, as it has legal responsibilities regarding the education or training of 13–19-year-olds under section 507b of the Education Act 1996.

This enables them to provide services as follows:

- post-16 education and training providers
- youth support services
- careers advisers

A parent/carer can object to any information in addition to their child's name, address and date of birth being passed to their local authority or provider of youth support services by informing us. This right is transferred to the learner once they reach the age of 16.

Once they reach the age of 16, a learner can object to only their name, address and date of birth is passed to their local authority or provider of youth support services by informing us.

Data is securely transferred to the youth support service via secure under the terms of a Data Sharing Agreement with the relevant local authority.

For more information about services for young people, please visit our local authority website.

9.2 Local Authorities

We may be required to share information about our learners with the local authority to ensure that they can conduct their statutory duties under the Schools Admission Code, including conducting Fair Access Panels.

All secondary schools, including TTAPA collect information on intended destinations (where a learner goes and what they do after leaving school), and pass it on to their local authorities, so that the local authorities can fulfil their requirement to ensure young people have an education or training placement for the September after they finish Key Stage 4. This is recorded on the National Client Caseload Information System (NCCIS) for the Department for Education and for local authorities.

A link to our local authority's Privacy Notice is on our website

9.3 Department for Education

The Department for Education (DfE) collects personal data from educational settings and local authorities via various statutory data collections. We are required to share information about our learners with the Department for Education (DfE) either directly or via our local authority for the purpose of those data collections.

All data is transferred securely and held by DfE under a combination of software and hardware controls, which meet the current government security policy framework.

10 How Government use your information

The learner data that we lawfully share with the DfE through data collections:

- underpins school funding, which is calculated based upon the numbers of children and their characteristics in each school
- informs 'short term' education policy monitoring and school accountability and intervention (for example, school GCSE results or Pupil Progress measures)
- supports 'longer term' research and monitoring of educational policy (for example how certain subject choices go on to affect education or earnings beyond school)

There is a link on our website to the DfE's

10.1. Data collection requirements

We are required to provide information about learners to the Department for Education as part of statutory data collections such as the school census and early year's census under regulation 5 of The Education (Information About Individual Learners) (England) Regulations 2013.

To find out more about the data collection requirements placed on us by the Department for Education (for example; via the school census) go to

Data collection and censuses for schools - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

10.2. The National Pupil Database (NPD)

Much of the information collect from schools is then stored in the National Learner Database \(NPD\), which is owned and managed by the Department of Education and provides evidence on school performance to inform research. It provides invaluable evidence on educational performance to inform independent research, as well as studies commissioned by the Department.

The database is held electronically so it can easily be turned into statistics. The information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, local authorities and exam boards.

The Department for Education may share information from the NPD with other organisations which promote children's education or wellbeing in England. Such organisations must agree to strict terms and conditions about how they will use the data.

For more information, see the Department's webpage on how it collects and shares research data. You can also contact the Department for Education with any further questions about the NPD.

10.3. Sharing by the Department

The law allows the Department to share learners' personal data with certain third parties, including:

- schools
- local authorities
- researchers
- organisations connected with promoting the education or wellbeing of children in England
- other government departments and agencies
- organisations fighting or identifying crime

For more information about the Department's NPD data sharing process, please visit: How DfE shares personal data - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

Organisations fighting or identifying crime may use their legal powers to contact the DfE to request access to individual level information relevant to detecting that crime. Whilst numbers fluctuate slightly over time, the DfE typically supplies data on around 600 children per year to the Home Office and roughly 1 per year to the Police.

For information about which organisations the Department has provided learner information to, (and for which project) or to access a monthly breakdown of data share volumes with Home Office and the Police please visit the following website:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/dfe-external-data-shares>

10.4. Learner Records Service

The Learning Records Service does not process data about our primary learners. However, for all other learners, the information you supply is used by the Learning Records Service (LRS). The LRS issues Unique Learner Numbers (ULN) and creates Personal Learning records across England, Wales and Northern Ireland, and is operated by the Education and Skills Funding Agency, an executive agency of the Department for Education (DfE). For more information about how your information is processed, and to access your Personal Learning Record, please refer to: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/lrs-privacy-notice>

10.5. How to find out what personal information the DfE hold about you

Under the terms of the Data Protection Act 2018, you are entitled to ask the Department:

- if they are processing your personal data
- for a description of the data they hold about you
- the reasons they're holding it and any recipient it may be disclosed to
- for a copy of your personal data and any details of its source

If you want to see the personal data held about you by the Department, you should make a 'subject access request'. Further information on how to do this can be found within the Department's personal information charter that is published at the address below: Personal
